LA WEEKLY

RECKONING: ARTS CALENDAR: MAY 12-18

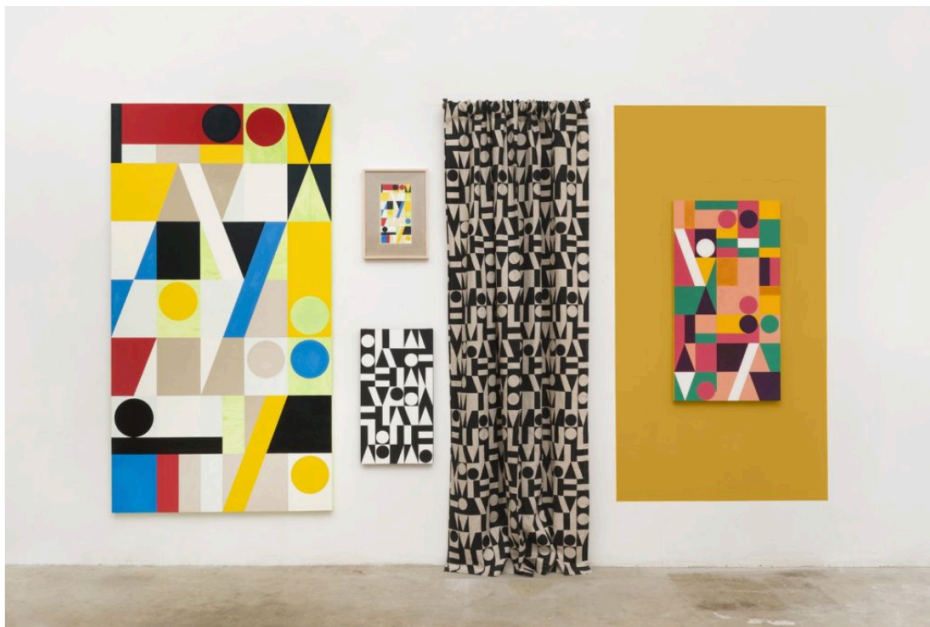

SHANA NYS DAMBROT × MAY 11, 2022

LA WEEKLY ART CALENDAR

A bi-coastal hybrid literature festival, artist talks reckoning with institutional narratives and the meaning of America, long-awaited dance performances, an opera about the violence of injustice, paintings about history, language and living in-between, comedy at the Ace, public art in Inglewood, music in a mansion, and more.

Antonio Adriano Puleo at Lowell Ryan Projects

Antonio Adriano Puleo: Una Cosa È Una Cosa, at Lowell Ryan Projects. Stained glass, paintings, and paper-based works explore conceptions of time, language and abstraction. A personal index of abstract shapes that Puleo has been working with for over ten years serves as an organizational basis for exploring how different histories, cultures, situations, and collective experiences have defined and continue to mold how we experience image, language, shape and form. 4619 Washington Blvd., West Adams; Opening: Saturday, May 14, 4-7pm; On view through June 25; free; lowellryanprojects.com.
